

2 things happened during the last 5 sessions. Explosive volume (here only XETRA Volume) Total traded 61 Mio shares. Then the stock revisited the 0.03 level (top level since June 1st on one hand – and on the other hand the 50 days moving-average. What does it say or what is the meaning of this: Around the 0.03 level some heavy hitters have been defending their trading-positions, but not forever this is sure. Based on the Gann-Theory – they will show up again around the 0.04 level and then the 0.058 level. Once up there, we will evaluate the situation as around this level , we have the first Fibonacci retracement level from the 0.27 level seen in February and once broken some attractive levels will become readable.
